About the Creator

I'm a digital technologies lover with a background in intercultural communication, global studies, and visual design. I created this project as a way to explore digital humanities scholarship and how digital tools can enhance the study of medieval history and women's voices through technology.

This site brings together my interests in text encoding, metadata, digital curation, and web publishing. In the process of making this project, I also gained hands-on experience with text analysis, data and database management, web hosting, and project management. Inspired by the words of the nun and scholar Sor Juana Inés de la Cruz, "I don't study to know more, but to ignore less," this project reflects my desire to keep learning and to make digital tools and content more accessible and engaging.

- ← Previous Exhibit page
- Next Exhibit page →

Summary page: Encoded Empires: A Digital Exploration of Royal Correspondence

Encoded Empires. Created and maintained by Jessica Powers.

- Browse Items
- Browse Collections
- Browse Exhibits
- Contact Me

Contact Me At: powers.jessica17@gmail.com